The scheme is open to the Indian citizens only. Hence, in that event the APY account will be closed and the net actual interest earned on his contributions (after deducting the account maintenance charges) will be refunded, whereas, the Government co-contribution, and the interest earned on the Government co-contribution, if provided, shall not be returned to such subscribers.

20. How to keep the APY account persistent?

The APY account can be kept persistent by making regular contributions towards the scheme. APY provides the option to the subscribers to change the contribution frequency (Monthly/Quarterly/Half Yearly) as per the earning frequency of the subscriber. Also, the subscriber can maintain persistency by paying all the overdue contributions along with the interest.

21. If the subscriber is Tax payer, can he/ she open the APY account in his/ her spouse's name?

Yes, if the APY subscriber is an income taxpayer, his/her spouse who is not an income taxpayer and satisfies other eligibility conditions can open their APY account.

22. When should an individual join APY?

An individual should join APY as early as possible to get the benefit of time. By joining early, the overall contribution made by the subscriber is reduced keeping the returns same.

23. Are the PRAN numbers for APY & NPS same?

No, the PRAN numbers for APY & NPS are different because PRAN is unique number which is allotted scheme wise.

II ACCUMULATION PHASE UNDER APY

24. What amount one needs to contribute towards APY?

The contribution amount shall depend on the age of the individual at the time of opening of APY account, frequency of contribution and the pension slab chosen. The age wise, frequency wise and pension slab wise contribution table is provided as Annexure for reference.

25. What is the mode and frequency of contributions to the APY account?

The contributions can be made at monthly / quarterly / half yearly intervals through auto debit facility from savings bank account/ post office savings bank account of the subscriber.

26. What is the due date for contribution under APY?

APY contributions will be collected through auto-debit of their savings bank account/ post office savings bank account on any date of the particular month, in case of monthly contributions or any day of the first month of the quarter, in case of quarterly contributions or any day of the first month of the half year, in case of half-yearly contributions.

27. How the quarter/ half years are defined in APY?

The quarters are defined as April- June as first quarter / July-September as 2nd Quarter/ October - December as 3rd quarter and January – March as 4th quarter. Further, half years are defined as April- Sept as 1st half year and Oct- March as 2nd half year. The subscriber is required to pay entire contribution for that quarter/half year whenever he/she is joining i.e. initial contribution and subsequent contribution would be due in the first month of the next quarter or first month of the next half year as per the frequency opted.

28. What will happen if the contribution gets delayed?

Subscriber will be charged overdue interest for the delayed period in case the APY contribution gets delayed beyond the due date.

29. How the overdue interest is calculated in case of delayed contribution?

For each delayed monthly contribution, the Banks are required to collect Rs.1 of every Rs.100 contribution, or part thereof, per month. The overdue interest collected will be credited to the APY account of the subscriber and it will remain as part of the pension corpus of the subscriber.

30. What will happen if required or sufficient amount is not maintained in the savings bank account for contribution on the due date?

In case of inadequate balance in the saving account of the subscriber till the last date of the month / last date of the first month in a quarter / last day of the first month in a half year, as the case may be, it will be treated as a default and contribution will have to be paid in the subsequent month along with overdue interest for delayed contributions. More than one monthly / quarterly / half yearly contribution can be recovered subject to the availability of the funds.

31. What will happen to APY account in case of non-contribution?

An APY account never gets closed due to non-payment of contributions by the subscriber. Further, the subscriber can regularize his/ her account at any point of time by paying contributions for the overdue period along with the overdue interest. However, the deductions would continue to be made in the subscriber’s APY account for account maintenance charges and other related charges on a periodic basis till it becomes zero.

32. How the contributions are invested in APY?

The contributions under APY are invested as per the investment guidelines prescribed by PFRDA for APY. The contributions thus collected are invested and the funds are managed by the Pension Funds namely SBI Pension Fund Pvt. Ltd, LIC Pension Fund Ltd and UTI Retirement Solution Ltd.
